

ARMY TROOPS TO BORDER

All Militia Ordered Rushed to Help Funston; Bay State Soldiers May Be on Move by Monday

Rush orders to move the militia of Massachusetts and all other States to the Mexican border without further notice were issued today by the War Department. The orders were given to Generals Leonard Wood, commanding the Department of the East; Thomas Barry, commanding the Central Department, and J. Franklin Bell, commanding the Western Department.

CRIMSON STEEPLE WINS TWO RACES FOR THE MILITIA

By FRANK G. MENKE.
Special Editor of the Associated Press Service.
New London, Conn., June 23.—Crimson steeples swept the course on the Thames river today in the first two races of the annual Yale-Harvard regatta. Harvard took both the freshman eight and varsity eight races handsly.

The official times of these two races were:
Freshman—Harvard, 2:20; Yale, 2:35.
Varsity—Harvard, 2:25; Yale, 2:40.

About 2,500 persons watched the aquatic struggles, which took place over a two mile course. A stiff wind blew, making the water choppy and presenting a sharp sea in the course for the second race.

The first race, that of the freshmen, went to Harvard by two lengths.

The Crimson took the varsity eight contest by one length.

The main event, the varsity eight, was won by Harvard by a half mile. The freshmen race started at 10 a. m. with Yale in the lead about three-quarters of a length. This was not a full length.

At the half-mile mark Yale took the lead. A stroke increased their lead a little more. Both crews were feeling strong and neither was exhibiting any signs of fatigue.

The three-quarter mile Yale had taken a lead of two lengths. Harvard appeared to be holding its strength in reserve. The first mile both crews were pulling as even strokes.

Passing the mile mark Yale was still leading, but Harvard had let up the pace and was only a length behind. Both were going strong.

At the two mile mark Yale's crewmen also increased their stroke and increased their lead to a length and a half. Harvard's stroke was also quickening.

Half a mile from the finish Yale continued to hold their lead. The Crimson crew were about a length ahead.

At the three-quarter mile Harvard was about to let up their stroke.

The Harvard crew was making a desperate effort to overhaul the Yale ship, but the Yale men held on.

Seeing the finish, Harvard used every ounce of reserve strength and passed the Yale boat as it had been standing still.

Late Mexico Bulletins

Lima, Peru, June 23.—The Mexican government has appealed to all the nations of Central and Southern America for their support in the conflict with the United States, which it declares inevitable. The Peruvian Foreign Office today received a note from Candido Aguilar, Mexican Minister of Foreign Relations, in which he asserts that the methods used by the American government have made it impossible to avoid a conflict, and points out that it is necessary to stop the aggression of the United States. A reply was immediately sent by Peru. This expressed the hope that hostilities might be avoided.

Mexico City, June 23.—Two foreign governments have suggested to Carranza that he accept mediation to prevent war between the United States and Mexico. Their proposal has received earnest consideration by Carranza and his cabinet, but no decision has been reached. According to semi-official information the two countries are Costa Rica and Salvador.

Columbus, N. M., June 23.—Armed Mexicans have crossed the American border southwest of Hachita, N. M., raided a ranch and stole the horses, according to a report received here (twenty-five words deleted by censor). The first report came today to Colonel Sickles, commanding the Twelfth Cavalry border patrol.

LATIN-AMERICANS STRIVE TO AVERT WAR BY MEDIATION

By JOHN EDWIN KEVIN.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.
Washington, June 23.—A determined effort is being made today by certain Latin-American diplomats, in Washington, assisted by the Spanish Ambassador, Senor Don Juan Blasco V. Garrayago, to prevent war between the United States and the defunct government of Mexico.

This was admitted both at the Spanish embassy and by Dr. Don Rafael Zaldivar, the Salvadoran minister.

"I have discussed the crisis in the Mexican affairs of the United States with such of my colleagues as now are in the city and have been in touch with others who are away. We stand ready to do anything that is in our power to prevent war."

"Of course, we cannot act until we know what decision the Carranzista government will reach toward the position of the United States as explained in the note sent forward last Tuesday."

"But we will do everything that lies in our power to avert an armed clash between the two nations."

MEXICANS ATTACKED ON 3 SIDES SAY SURVIVORS OF CARRIZAL

By International News Service.
Headquarters of the United States Army in Mexico, June 23, via Columbus, N. M., June 23.—Only seven of the United States troops who took part in the fight with Mexicans at Carrizal have returned to camp thus far. They are unharmed in declaring that the American forces were victims of treachery.

The men who got back to camp were engaged during the battle as horse holders.

These facts were brought back from the field of action. Troops C and K effected a junction at the San Domingo ranch Tuesday night and went into camp. Early Wednesday morning the Carranzista commander at Carrizal was asked to allow the Americans to pass.

The Mexican commander returned answer that he had been ordered to allow no Americans to pass. Captain C. F. Boyd then sent another message saying he did not want to molest the Mexicans but only to get by north of the place.

The Carranzista commander asked for a parley. While the parley was in progress the Mexican troops began firing up in front and on both sides of the little band of Americans, shooting treachery. The Americans began to make preparations to defend themselves.

They dismounted, but were not able to find shelter. The attack was made from three sides at once. The Mexicans had two machine guns, which they used with deadly effect.

The dismounted cavalrymen were routed. Valley after valley were swept into the ranks of the Mexicans and many soldiers were soon stricken. Even many of the wounded Americans kept firing until they fainted from weakness.

The Mexicans were driven back several times, but their superior numbers soon told. The three holders, being the day was going, start of the sun for help.

In their attempts they dwell upon the miserable condition and bravery of the Americans.

Columbus Rushes Plans to Resist Attack

By International News Service.
Columbus, N. M., June 23.—A large band of Mexicans were reported south of Pecos just south of this camp today, during the night. Orders were immediately issued to prepare for an attack.

Generals' excitement prevailed as a result of the preparations. All orders were instructed to keep within their quarters.

ESCAPES 5-DAY LAW TO TAKE 'WAR' BRIDE

Among the marriage intentions first noted at City Hall was that of David H. Gorman, Jr., thirty years old, of No. 440 Dudley street, Dorchester, an electrician and sergeant of Company B, Signal Corps, to Miss Mildred Libbards, twenty-nine years old, No. 640 Dudley street, Dorchester, clerk and daughter of Walter S. Richards. The couple proposed to marry from Camp Justice, Maine, during the five-day law, and will be married tomorrow.

SAY VILLA WOULD JOIN CARRANZISTAS

Washington, June 23.—The War Department is investigating a report that Francisco Villa was at Sonora, United States, negotiating with Carranza offers for a campaign in the Mexican States, which were taken from the Carranzista forces during a recent battle. The report was made by a man who was wounded in the battle and was taken to the hospital in the United States.

It is understood that only such units as are below peace strength or are short of necessary equipment will be held in mobilization camps in the various States.

As the Cabinet meeting reports from General Funston showing the immediate necessity of strengthening his border guard at a number of points were received. He appealed urgently for cavalry and for experienced infantry, artillery and signal corps units which can be used at certain points, thus relieving regulars for any general offensive movement that may be planned.

Secretary Baker's orders were issued following a conference of President Wilson and members of his cabinet, and are interpreted to mean that the general situation along the Mexican frontier is more critical than the administration has cared to admit.

PERSHON CONFIRMS REPORT OF TREACHERY

Washington, June 23.—The War Department today received its first report from Gen. Pershing by the Carrizal front. It confirmed previous reports of Mexican treachery, saying that the Carranzista forces had been driven from Carrizal.

Generals Wood, Barry and Bell will be the judges of whether the troops are in shape to take the field and will be expected to have no time in starting south. General Funston will negotiate their stationing.

MASS U. S. TROOPS AT BORDER TO PROTECT TOWNS IN PERIL

El Paso, Tex., June 23.—A large force of Mexican cavalry was observed by scouts approaching the Rio Grande at Valverde, seven miles below here, just before midnight. General Bell immediately ordered out his military police squad to prevent the Mexicans from crossing the river.
The train which pulled out of Juarez yesterday morning had pulled back in within eight miles of the border.

Mexico Appeals to Rebels to Be Loyal

El Paso, Tex., June 23.—The Mexican government has issued a direct appeal to rebel chiefs to join with the Constitutionalists in fighting the United States.

A proclamation issued by Minister of War Obregon, addressed to "the chiefs of bands in rebellion against the constitutional government," promises them immunity if they will abandon their present attitude and take up arms "in case of conflict with the United States, which now seems imminent."

The rebels are instructed to present themselves to the nearest Constitutional chief for organization and co-operation for the national defense. Only those are excluded from the provisions of this proclamation who have previously been declared beyond the law, including chiefs of the revolutionary movement. The proclamation continues:

Those who, having notice of this circular, do not comply, but still remain hostile to the government, in case of war, shall be treated as outlaws.
Commanders are instructed to notify rebel chiefs in their territory that the rebels operating in the states of Durango, Coahuila and part of Zacatecas have recognized this government, thus setting an example for others.

Double Wedding Heads List of War Marriages

A double wedding at St. Paul's Church, Boston, today was the wedding of several "war marriages" to take place today.

Lieutenant Hugh C. Blanchard of the machine gun company, Eighth Regiment, and Miss Marion van Der Luft, daughter of Mr. Nathan van der Luft of No. 115 Commonwealth avenue, and Dr. James F. Cougal, captain of the medical corps, Fifth Regiment, and Miss Martha Wilfong of No. 88 Second Brook avenue, Roxbury, were the two couples at St. Paul's.

In Woburn, Miss Ellen Russell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Russell of No. 14 Court street, was married this afternoon to Norman L. Duncan, who has enlisted in Battery A, Rhode Island Field Artillery.

On next Monday Private John S. Souther of the Fifth Company, C. A. C., will marry Miss Mary Malone of No. 209 Havre street, East Boston. After the wedding the militiamen will report to their companies.

CREDIT REPORT THAT CAPT. MOREY WAS KILLED IN CARRIZAL FIGHT

By International News Service.
San Antonio, Texas, June 23.—At army headquarters the Mexican report that Captain Lewis B. Morey was killed at Carrizal is credited, for the same reason that the name came through in this report exactly correct. Morey's name appears in the army list as attached, assigned to the Tenth Cavalry, so it is not known here whether he died in the Carrizal fight or not.

Morey is a son of Rev. L. H. Morey of San Antonio. This was his home. In 1903 he married Miss Fern Palm of Austin. He was graduated from West Point in 1908, and was known as a competent and capable officer. His friends and relatives here have been told the hope that the Mexican report of his death is a mistake.

General Pershing reported to General Funston that the Mexicans had evacuated the town of Casas Grandes and Nueva Casas Grandes. He did not state whether his troops had occupied them.

General William H. Oberlin, Troop M, Fourth Cavalry, one of the men wounded in the San Ignacio fight, died later at Laredo.

AMERICAN CAVALRY DRIVES BACK MEXICAN SCOUTING DETACHMENTS

By International News Service.
Columbus, N. M., June 23.—American cavalry and motor squads have swept the country clear of Mexican scouting detachments east and west of the Pecos valley in Mexico. Detachments operating far from the line of communication have been driven back through which Mexican forces have been riding.

Reports from the south indicate that very close to Nampiqui, below it, have Mexican scouting detachments maintained their positions. The commander's office here is maintaining communication with Nampiqui, El Valle, Colonia Dublan and other outposts. No alarming reports have been received. It cannot be said authoritatively, however, that all is quiet in this section.

MORMON WITH TENT DECLARES MEXICANS WARNED CAVALRYMEN

Chihuahua City, Mexico, June 23.—The seventeen American soldiers of the Tenth Cavalry, who were captured in the battle at Carrizal, were brought here with Lem H. Spillbury, a Mormon youth employed by General J. J. Pershing.

Spillbury said that Captain Charles T. Boyd commanded the Americans, and with Lieutenant Henry R. Adams was among the killed. Captain Moore, who was with the American detachment, was wounded in the shoulder, but escaped.

Spillbury's story, as recounted by General Pershing, was that the detachment of seventy-six men, comprising Capt. Boyd, Lieutenants Adams and Moore, Lieutenant Adams and himself, composed the American detachment in the battle at Carrizal. He said that he saw on the field the bodies of Boyd and Adams and at least eleven of the negroes.

BOYS WANTED TO TURN BACK, SPILLBURY'S ACCOUNT OF THE BATTLE AS GIVEN OUT FOLLOWS:

We left Casas Grandes on Sunday morning, leaving outside of Carrizal early Wednesday morning. Captain Boyd immediately dispatched the courier to the little town of the little village, advising him that we were on our way.

After we had waited some time, Lieutenant-Colonel Hayes came out and warned Captain Boyd that we would better turn back. Captain Boyd said that he would not turn back.

"I was ten years ago of age, and I was troubled with eczema on my face and hands. I took the form of simple eczema, but it was larger and there were a lot of many of them that were attached to go out. They itched and burned for three months and I got no sleep at night because of the intense irritation caused by the eczema all the time. I thought I would be discharged for life. I tried several remedies but they were of no use to me. I read of Cuticura Soap and I was entirely healed in two months. (Signed) Antonio Di Napoli, 168 Eastcott St., Brown, Mass., Aug. 3, 1915.)

noticed the American that if he attempted to advance he would have to pass over the dead bodies of the Mexicans. He advised Boyd that he had better not start the matter.

"THOUGHT MEXICAN BLUFFING." Rivas returned to the village to report to his superior officer. General Gomez, who sent out a note inviting the Americans to enter Carrizal for a conference, was in person and insisted that the Americans to enter, pointing out that his orders from his superiors reemphasized his acting on them without further parley.

General Gomez repeated these words as he walked away. Boyd merely answered, "All right."

General Trevino's announcement goes on to quote Spillbury as saying that after General Gomez had retired to his troops, who were lined up outside the town, Captain Boyd ordered his men to advance, whereupon Spillbury expostulated with him, arguing that a fight was sure to follow.

Spillbury is reported as saying that Captain Boyd "obstinately refused to think that the Mexican general only bluffing" and the firing quickly began.

Captain Moore and Lieutenant Adams fell, wounded, the latter mortally. Captain Moore was wounded in the shoulder, and immediately the negroes became terrified. The horses fled with the men, leaving behind them negroes and myself. We were forced to surrender.

Among the bodies of Boyd and Adams and at least eleven negroes on the field of battle.

Mexicans Seize Mines and Get Ammunition

By International News Service.
Chihuahua, Ariz., June 23.—Carrizal soldiers in Sonora came into possession of large quantities of ammunition, explosives, food, dynamite, through an order from First Chief Carranza to all forces.

The Southern Pacific de Mexico, and Northern Pacific lines, were taken. These lines and the mine, it was reported, will be operated under Carranza's administration until the mines are exhausted.

The mining properties taken were the Carrizal Copper Company and the Montezuma Copper Company and the El Tigre Mines, all of which maintain large mercantile stores and magazines of explosives.

John Parks, an American, and Albert Dickson, an Englishman, were killed by Carranza soldiers in a fight near Nogales. Another American, Nathan Hand, another American, with Parks and Dickson, was captured and is held at Nogales, accused of murdering a soldier.

Hand declared he and his companions were attacked without cause.

QUINCY POLICE HOLD ALLEGED SWINDLER

Joseph Mangold, whom the Quincy police allege is Harry D. Falk, wanted in Worcester, where, it is claimed, he sold shares of this oil stock to Dr. Collins, to under arrest in Quincy on the charge of being a suspicious person.

He is himself an agent of the banking and brokerage house of Keith, St. John & Co., No. 112 Broadway, N. Y. The police say he received $500 for the stock on June 1.

He was about to collect on a similar deal in this city when arrested.

A few days ago Falk sold two shares of the oil stock to I. R. Hoffman of Whitehall street, Quincy. The price arranged was $250. He presented a business card bearing the name of the brokerage firm in New York, and Mr. Hoffman telegraphed to the firm and received word that any one representing himself as their agent on the road was a fraudulent person. Mr. Hoffman notified the police.

When Falk called at the Hoffman residence he was arrested.

LUCIANO FOUND GUILTY OF KILLING

Frank Luciano, former North End henchman, was found guilty of manslaughter today in shooting to death Giuseppe Corvino, a business associate.

Luciano was brought in by a jury before Judge Brady in the Superior Court, Quincy, today, after an all-night session, having gone out yesterday at 11:15 p. m.

Attorney John P. Finney, representing the defendant, presented the plea of self-defense, and asked the jury for a dismissal or verdict of manslaughter. District Attorney Pelletier for the government admitted this defense and declared that Luciano had threatened to "kill" the other man.

Corvino was shot on the night of February 24 at the corner of Lewis and North streets, a few hours after Luciano had been arrested on an indictment warrant charging him with the slaying of property valued at $1,000.

According to the police, Luciano-upbeated Corvino for sending his agent and told him to go through the back of the Corvino's office at the Hotel Hamilton. While the physicians were operating, Luciano and Corvino, a resident of North street, North End, were members of the Lucania firm of D. & F. Luciano, No. 112 North street.

It was claimed that Corvino and Francesco Corvino of Newton gave Luciano $500 worth of property as security for shares in the Neapolitan Wire & Insulating Company of North street.

Each week, according to Corvino, who was to have a salary of $25 a week, in addition to his profit, Corvino and Corvino's condition of the firm was not so represented and completed in the prison and Grand Jury. An indictment against him was obtained, charging Luciano in one count with carrying of an auto truck, hence was taken from Corvino, and in the second count of murder, a check and summary case from Corvino.

STRIKE OF BUILDING LABORERS ENDED

The strike of 8,000 members of the Building Laborers' and Hod Carriers' Union, which has tied up building operations in Greater Boston since June 1, has been settled under an agreement by which a number of points in dispute will be arbitrated.

The men returned to work today.

MORSE- MADE CLOTHES

"Impressive in Value—Expressive in Style"

"Four blocks out of the beaten path, and doing the business of the town!"

MERELY an expression of wonderment from a friendly retailer in a near-by town—naturally pleasing to us, and borne out by convincing facts in every detail.

Achievement spells success

For sixty-four years this has been a successful store—not in an ordinary way, but nationally.

The ten great retail clothing stores of America always include the name of Leopold Morse Company.

Why?

Because our business has always been conducted on sane principles, applied by a conservative management, never stooping to deceit, and giving—not talking—value every minute of the day every day.

Advertising Hysteria has no place in this Store. Facts, all the time, dominate written and verbal descriptions of Morse Products.

The flame of exuberant overstatement need never be quenched because it cannot be ignited.

After all, isn't this the kind of a store you would have a mighty kindly feeling for?
An undeniable PROOF of Morse standing is the popularity of our

Who wears them?

They are worn by everybody who wears shoes—by girls and boys, men and women; by those who sit at desks all day; by those who work in the open; by professional men, business men, trade workers, school boys and school girls; by housewives, society women, in short, O'Sullivan's Heels of New, Live, Rubber are worn by men and women, boys and girls in every walk of life.

These little "shock absorbers" give you the buoyant walk that always goes with energy and success in men, and with charm and beauty in women. They save your children's tender feet from breaking down on hard city playgrounds and city streets. They protect your nervous system from jolts and jars and are a necessary factor in the preservation of your health.

In black, white or tan; for men, women and children—50c attached. Be sure to get O'Sullivan's; avoid the disappointment of substitutes. Most good shoe dealers now sell latest styles already O'Sullivanized.

WAR SUMMARY.

"The glory that was Greece" never contemplated such humiliation as the Hellenic kingdom now suffers at the hands of the entente powers. Literally under the guns of the allied warships off the Pireas the Greek government, represented by Premier Zaimis, again in office, went meekly to the French legation at Athens and agreed to entente demands for demobilization of the army, a new ministry, a new general election and dismissal of police functionaries who are on the entente blacklist.

While the Russian activities have naturally held public attention of late, the fighting along the Verdun front has been developing vigorous engagements, with airmen also attacking spectacular flights. Paris reports that by counter-attack the French troops regained most of the trench positions captured by the Germans Wednesday night between Fumville wood and Chemot, northeast of Verdun. Berlin reports gains west of Fort Vaux.

French aviators, in retaliation for German aerial bombardment of Bar le Due and Lunville, dropped bombs on Treves, which is in Rhineland Prussia, seventy miles from the Verdun front, and on Carlsruhe, eighty-five miles, and on Mulheim, on the right bank of the Rhine.

The ferocity of the fighting between the Russian and German forces in Volynia is emphasized by admission in the official statement from Petrograd that: "We made no prisoners." This is a polite way of saying the Russians gave no quarter. Petrograd defends this carnage by pleading "the exasperation of our troops who refused quarter to the Germans, who had been employing explosive bullets."

German and Russian official statements make conflicting claims of advantages for each side in the main battle fronts of the eastern theatre. No decisive result appears yet.

The Russians, in pursuit of the Austrians in Bukovina, have taken Radatz, thirty miles south of Cernowitz, according to the Russian official. London announces that it has received an official Austrian statement that Russian attacks have been repulsed at Gura Humora, which is fifty-four miles south of Cernowitz, which would show even greater progress for the Slav drive in the crown land.

"Bull" Durham is Pure all the Way from the Leaf to the Finished Flake

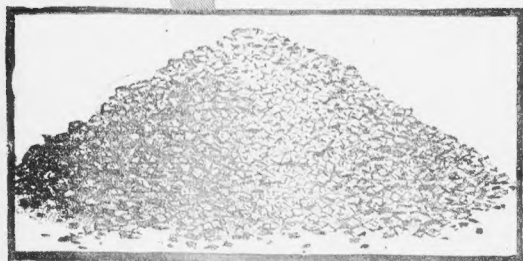

After the leaf for "Bull" Durham Has Passed Through the "Breaker."

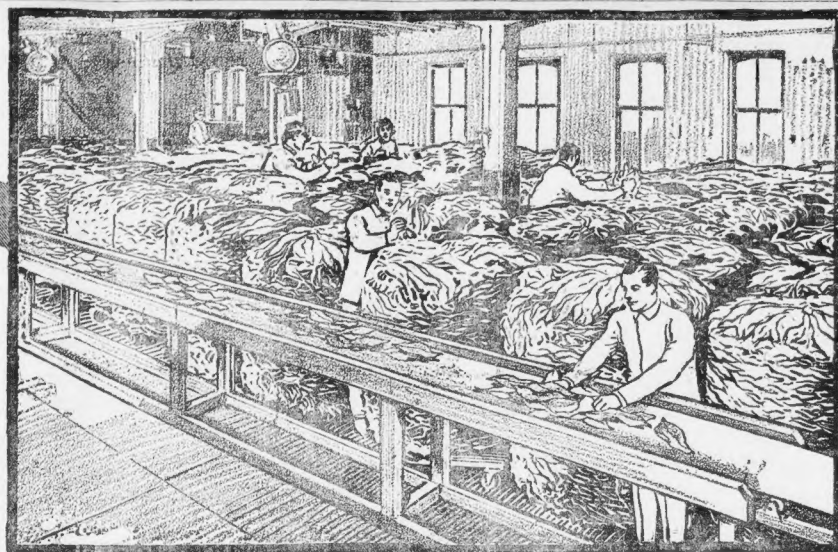

After It Has Passed Through the Third Granulator.

After It Has Passed Through the Tenth and Last Granulator.

After It Has Passed Through the Sieves—the Finished Flakes.

Where the Golden Virginia-Carolina Leaf for "Bull" Durham Starts on Its Journey.

Only Pure Virginia-Carolina Leaf Goes Through the "Bull" Durham Manufacturing System—Only Pure Tobacco Comes Out as "Bull" Durham

Grouped about a moving belt on the top floor of the "Bull" Durham factory at Durham, N. C., are giant hogsheads of tobacco leaf—107 of them.

To the eye they show a mass of color—soft, rich, golden—the distinctive, individual, matchless shades that belong solely to famous bright Virginia-Carolina leaf.

Nothing else ever goes into that big room—nothing but this pure, ripe leaf.

From each of the 107 hogsheads a certain quantity is taken and placed on the moving belt.

The hogsheads differ slightly in character. They are of different crops, are raised in different sections, vary somewhat in body and aroma. All the 107 are required to make up the wonderful blend which has made "Bull" Durham the world's best known and best liked cigarette tobacco.

The freight of golden leaf moves forward on the belt to the "breaker," then on into a series of ten granulators, and finally into a system of sieves, coming out three floors below in fragrant flakes of uniform size—the finished "Bull" Durham.

The entire operation of making "Bull" Durham, from the first "breaking" of the leaf to the final sifting of the tiny flakes, is carried on automatically inside a continuous tight-closed wooden flume.

The pure leaf is kept pure. No foreign matter of any kind can get mixed with the tobacco at any stage of its manufacture.

And that's why "Bull" Durham stands every test for purity.

You can test it yourself. Pour some "Bull" Durham on your hand or on a piece of paper. Separate the grains—examine them closely. You will find only tiny flakes of pure tobacco—nothing else looks like the golden Virginia-Carolina leaf used in "Bull" Durham.

GENUINE "BULL" DURHAM SMOKING TOBACCO

Make the test today—learn to "roll your own" with "Bull" Durham. It's easy—a little practice and you'll get the knack. Then you'll quickly find that money can't buy, nor machinery make, a cigarette like the one you roll yourself with "Bull" Durham.

FREE

An illustrated Booklet, showing correct way to "Roll Your Own" Cigarettes, and a package of cigarette papers, will both be mailed, free, to any address in United States on request. Address "Bull" Durham, Durham, N. C.

Braves Win in 11th, 3-1
Nehf Starts Gay Rally

Philadelphia, June 23.—The Braves were a happy lot when they arrived here from New York last night, where they succeeded in making three out of four over the Giants, even though George Tyler, who usually baffles Jawn McGraw's crew, was laid low in the opening solrice.

Five games are to be crowded into four playing days with the Phillies. But Moran has Grover Alexander fresh, and the King will probably be treated forth today. He won his game in Brooklyn, and, if by any hook or crook he is kept out of the fray today, it is a sure shot he will be sent from a lamé screen. He may be the victim of a chronic groch as soon as he dons his diamond togs. But whatever his proper station, John was the leading contender in sinking the thorax deep into the midriff of the Giants in the series ending at the Polo Grounds over in gay Gotham.

the Trojan had nothing more notable than to arrive over the winning run in the eleventh round, and then, just to make his stunt more impressive, Evers worked on the forward end of a triple steal. The score, when Kenechay gathered in Hariden's pop fly for the final

The game was a nice pitchers' battle between Schauer and Nohf. The eleventh-inning assault by the Braves gave an edge to Nohf. But had Schauer been given as clean support as was accorded his opponent, he Success Comes Only to Those Willing to Work for It

GOVERNOR McCALL at the Holy Cross Commencement exercises paid a very handsome and deserved tribute to ex-Governor Walsh, who defeated him and was defeated by him for the office of Governor. Replying to Father Diamond's introductory statement that he had defeated Walsh, Governor McCall said that he had not defeated Walsh, because the ex-Governor could never be defeated, for he had "all those qualities which make a man's life a triumph." This is a fine acknowledgment from a political opponent and will be very gratifying to all those who supported Governor Walsh for re-election last year.

Ex-Governor Walsh is a very fortunate man. Circumstances and inherited faculties, not the least of which is the capacity to work early and late, have combined to give him honors and render him capable of public service.

But men of ordinary achievement are often discouraged at the depiction of successful public men as supermen. The recent description of Judge Hughes and of President Wilson read like a description of some demigods of intellectual endowment. This is as discouraging to the average man, who knows his ability is no greater than that of his neighbor, as it is untrue to the facts.

The difference between the natural ability of the successful man and the man without remarkable achievement is usually very small indeed. At the end of the life's race the difference between the successful man and the ordinary man may be very great indeed. But that distance consists of a myriad of little gains, all of which flow from a little more work and self-sacrifice every day, while the interest on each little gain accumulates until the total seems beyond the comprehension of the man who is unwilling to pay the price of success by contributing the little extra work and self-sacrifice every day.

In the power of the gray matter which we call our brains all men are created more equal by nature than the inequalities of worldly success would indicate.

We Must Learn World Facts and Judge for Ourselves

THE Berliner Tagblatt presents a phase of the situation in the European war which is gradually beginning to dawn upon Americans. Says this newspaper:

"So far as we are concerned our conscience is clear. We have repeatedly made offers of peace to our enemies. They have been obstinately refused by France in particular, the others merely following suit."

"The fact is that France is the dominating power of the entente, the head and soul of the resistance. We must, therefore, beat France first of all and finally."

"That done, our hands will be free to deal with England, for there can be no end to the struggle until the soil of England itself, also, is saturated in the blood of its people."

For generations we have received our impressions and our information concerning conditions in Europe through English sources. Unfortunately we are not a people versed in the languages, and it was the line of least resistance—the easiest way—to take the English representation of things European. Until recently England has been the hereditary enemy of France. She has won more victories with her pen than with her armies and she has painted France and the Frenchman as she wanted them to appear before the eyes of the American people. We believed them a nation of dancing masters, cooks, dressmakers—excitable, unstable, incompetent, effeminate. We believed all this because the English publicists told us it was true and we believed it in spite of the historic facts which prove that the French soldiers are among the best fighters the world has ever seen.

We know NOW that the French nation, under terrific strain, is more calm than the British; that she is efficient, determined and patient. Her armies alone have proved themselves a match for the Germans under equal conditions.

There is a serious and important lesson to be learned from the revelation TO US of the French character and the real strength of France.

America has already entered the world's madroom and it is a very grave situation indeed when even a man like President Wilson, who has reached the highest place in America, confesses that he gets his views of European conditions and European facts from the London Times.

We shall stumble blindly along in our international relations unless we awaken to the necessity of an impartial examination of world conditions ON OUR OWN ACCOUNT, refusing any longer to take hearsay, second-hand evidence and censored news of the occurrences and conditions of the outside world which are given us from English sources. Our diplomacy will confine its bungling course until we learn to make our own examination of world facts and to gather our own impressions and form our own judgment without the aid or consent of Great Britain or of any other nation.

How to Feed the Baby in Summer

By Woods Hutchinson, M. D.

The World's Best Known Writer on Medical Subjects.

Few things are more important for children's health and comfort in Summer than an intelligent choice of food. In the main, the same general principles apply to all ages, and you need not shoulder the sole responsibility of feeding your own child. Leave much of it to the small party chiefly concerned.

Food variety, attractiveness, cleanliness and coolness should be the keynote of selection, with a little extra emphasis on the last two. It is extremely important to keep a baby's food clean and cool in Summer—that is to keep him safe. Food which has been kept clean and food which has been kept cool—better still, of course, both—are perfectly safe food for your baby in Summer. You need not worry seriously about either the amount or the kind of food for the little one in Summer time; their own likes and dislikes can be relied upon to decide on, and their own healthy appetites the other. They need surprisingly near the same amount in Summer that they do in Winter, because they are growing just as fast and have a longer day in which to work hard every minute of the time.

It is a mistake to suppose that anything which is cooling and filling and watery makes a good enough meal for a child in the Summer. Our little ones have motors and plenty of energy to run their dynamo, and the child that is best fed will best stand the Summer heat and be more alert and alive any day. Spilling-bugs which may get into his stomach, stick, come first of all, and should be eaten and chewed as thoroughly as possible, just because it is wet and cold. This is best gained by eating it with bread, or crackers, or home-made cake, or cookies. But don't break them into it; eat them dry, both because the teeth need exercise and the native will not then properly utilize the juice and butter. But in next in importance, not only because the child's system requires a fair amount of fat, and fat can be utilized in the body with very little waste heat, but also because it contains a fair amount of vitamins possessed by no other fat, either vegetable or animal, which is necessary for the growth of young animals.

This explains why children that love and revel in butter, and usually eat fat meat, or hard, or olive oil. Science has just reached the level of the wisdom of babies after 6,000 years of groping in the dark. Children don't want bread-and-butter, but butter-and-bread, and some of the more intelligent and independent of them will like it.

The first condition of butter and hard bread back for a second year. Next in importance as a life-saver in Summer time for children comes sugar—either in the form of sweetening in cake or puddings, or spread upon bread and butter, or much, or as sweet fruits and preserves, or good home-made candy or ice cream.

Sugar is a real food, not a mere flavoring or luxury, and from half to three-quarters of a pound a day of it can be burned and digested cleanly by an adult, and a corresponding amount of it by children, in proportion to the fraction which their weight in pounds make when written above a hundred—that is to say, a little more than an adult in proportion to their weight. Then comes meat of all sorts, including chicken and fish. The ancient proverbial against meat in Summer time was not well founded, for although meat does produce a little surplus heat in the body, this drawback is so trifling compared with its ready digestibility, its attractiveness and the powerful tonic effect of its extractives and flavorings, that a moderate amount is absolutely necessary to health in Summer time. For a child under two years old, meat once a day and milk, which is liquid meat, at the other two meals, while after two years a fair amount of meat once a day and a smaller, or accessory, amount at the other meals, is helpful.

A fair amount of berries and fresh fruit and of green vegetables form not only one of the chief delights of the table, but an absolute life-saving element of the diet in the Summer time. But there is no element that calls for more careful judgment in the case of children. On the one hand, the popular impression that fresh fruits are dangerous food for children because they are liable to produce colic and bowel troubles is not well founded. If the fruits are ripe and fresh and in sound condition, children above the age of two may be allowed to eat them quite freely, without fear of any results but good ones. With plenty of cream and sugar on them, they form not merely a valuable appetizer, but a real food.

On the other hand, the impression so prevalent at the present, largely through the impassioned eloquence of ill-informed diet reformers, that because fresh fruit and green vegetables contain certain mysterious and life-saving salts which will save sailors or prisoners from starvation on a diet of salt meat or hard tack or corn meal, therefore children should be urged and even forced to eat some of them at every meal whether they like them or not, has little more rational basis.

The Country Road

By William F. Kirk

It winds among the emerald hills.

And over the grassy plateau.

It crosses streams where sunlight gleams.

And through lanes,

It twirls and turns among the ferns

And over the grassy plateau.

And where it meets a sparkling pond.

It struggles to its end.

It knows the holy calm of night,

The early morning's misty white,

The twilight's purple gray;

The bee that thrives apart from bees,

The bird that sings alone;

The trees that live their patient lives

And uncomplicated die.

How like a creeping human life

That winds its way alone;

With all its yellow dust of strife

And crystal dew of song.

How like a life that creeps beyond

The earth's hills and dale.

To find at last the sparkling pond

Of immortality!

Experiments Which Show That the Atom Can Be Squeezed Like a Rubber Ball, and Others Which Measure the Life of Radium in Thousands of Year

By Garrett P. Serviss

A CERTAIN man who is at present very much in the limelight is said by one of his admirers to have declared with the emphasis which ignorance often employs that he "wouldn't give five cents for all the art in the world." In like manner I have heard persons with minds devoted to only one side asseverate with demonstrative scorn that scientific work which doesn't "produce the goods" (dollars being always meant by "goods") is only "amusements for cranks."

Such persons have no interest in the atom, for to be interested in the atom, which is a billion times too small to be seen, even with a microscope, is to have a mind of a very large type.

To go in search of the atom; to feel for it with electromagnetic fingers away down to the utmost depths of infinitesimality; to find it not solid, but compressible; not an inert piece of adamant, but an organism as full of life and movement and changeableness as a solar system or a star cluster; to snarl oneself, like Alice in Wonderland, until one has entered into an atom as into a lofty palace, and see the glittering, dancing throngs that fill it; to reflect that the atoms that make an atom are perhaps of similar complexity, so that the infinitesimal is as deep as the infinite is high—doing these things, or trying to do them, is intellectual living.

In the Wolcott Gibbs Memorial Laboratory at Harvard they have been squeezing atoms! It would have seemed almost any day that one of the last generation snails with supposed superior knowledge if you had told him that an atom was squeezable, like a lemon or a toy balloon. He thought that atoms were the ultimate particles of which everything in the universe is made up. He thought, equally, that atoms had solid sides, and that there could be nothing smaller than an atom.

Now, however, it is being proved that not only are atoms complex systems in which incomparably smaller particles are revolving around a centre of gravity somewhat as the planets revolve around the sun, but that the atoms are "elastic, compressible, deformable entities, capable of yielding somewhat to every source of pressure which may be applied upon them." They do not yield quite so readily as rubber balls, perhaps, but the comparison would depend upon the rigidity of the atoms as well as the force of the pressure. They do not yield quite so readily as rubber balls, perhaps, but the comparison would depend upon the rigidity of the atoms as well as the force of the pressure. They do not yield quite so readily as rubber balls, perhaps, but the comparison would depend upon the rigidity of the atoms as well as the force of the pressure.

It is found in the discovery itself and the knowledge that it gives of the ways of nature, while for those who know only the dollar standard a satisfactory reply must be that every revolution in chemistry has enriched the world and made life easier. And here is one of the beginnings of the greatest revolution that chemistry or any science has yet known.

Another investigation which is being pursued for the sake of pure knowledge is that of "the life of radium." Radium has made itself so famous that it doesn't need an introduction in any society, but it is still a mystery to those who know it best.

One of the first things discovered about radium is that, in a certain sense, it has a lifetime. A piece of radium does not remain a piece of the same indefinitely, but, like a living organism, it perishes and turns into something else. It continually gives off rays consisting of portions of its own atoms, and thus gradually wastes away.

It gives out heat in its process of disintegration, and some have thought that it may be the radium contained in the earth that has kept it from freezing solid to the centre long ago. It is a source of energy so stupendous that if we could harness that disintegration, we have been that of a mass of coal by burning it, it is hardly an exaggeration to say that a handful of radium would furnish enough energy to drive all the engines and fire all the great guns now in the world!

But this immense store of energy is expended very slowly, and in a manner beyond our control, and, consequently, we cannot utilize it. One of the investigations now under way has for its object to ascertain the time rate of the natural disintegration of radium. And the exact results obtained by Professor Holmwood show that this important piece of knowledge has been almost perfected.

It is now known that a piece of radium, of any size whatever, will live out half its life, or be half transformed, in about 1,500 years. You may ask, "Why not measure the length of time that the whole piece would last?" The reason is that the disintegration takes place in such a manner that half of the material is transformed in a given length of time, then half of what remains will be transformed in the next period of equal length, and, again, half of what remains, in the third equal period, and so on until the remainder becomes indefinitely small.

In-Shoots

The neighbors' X-ray will quickly locate a lot of things that we never discover in our own composition.

As a rule the fat woman is always complaining of a loss of appetite.

Even the good boy is liable to forget all about mother when some lovely snip of a girl with her face covered with cornstarch appears.

The woman who brags of her husband's talents is usually considered soft.

If woman could forgive the other woman as easily as she overlooks the faults of the bad man, the world would be better.

Of course with a piano player the key to success is an ivory or ebony affair.

In many cases the friendly fellow wants to run your business or borrow money.

When applying for a job, a clean collar is as good as a letter of recommendation.

When the office really needs the man it is safe to bet that the man's signature on a bank check means something.

Heavily laced is all right in its place, but when most of us are out for entertainment we prefer the slightly laced.
